

Podcast - Production Assistant

| | |
|-----------------|--|
| Project Title | Podcast - Production Assistant |
| Project Summary | VA's "Borne the Battle" podcast is the VA's official podcast. In 2016, VA's Digital Media Engagement team launched a weekly podcast to highlight Veteran engagement, VA stories, and information on benefits and services available to Veterans. |
| Country | United States |

Project Description

VA's "Borne the Battle" podcast is seeking a passionate production assistant intern who will be responsible for providing video content to support the work of the VA's "Borne the Battle" podcast. You will prepare produce video highlights and compilations exercising independent judgment. Other tasks include researching and fulfilling video requests for "Borne the Battle" producers, acquiring and creating video graphics, assisting in video summaries. Interns pursuing degree in video production, journalism, communications, or a related discipline, or an equivalent combination of education and experience. Intermediate experience in Adobe After Effects and introductory experience with online journalism, including writing, editing preferred. Experience with nonlinear editing programs is desirable.

Required Skills or Interests

Skill(s)
Videography

Additional Information

None

Language Requirements

None